FRANCE TAKES FIRST STEP AGAINST RUSSIA

REDS DO NOT PLAN TO CRUSH POLAND SOVIET MINISTER STATES IN BERLIN

George Tchitchering Grants Exclusive Interview With International News Service.

POLISH WINNERS WILL BE ORGANIZED, HE SAYS

Members of Trades Unions Will Be Armed to Preserve Peace.

(International News Service.)
BERLIN, Aug. 14.—Russia does not intend to crush Poland but she does plan to create a great army of Polish workmen as a "counterpoise" to the imperialistic landlords and as a bulwark of peace, it was declared today by George Tchitchering, foreign minister in the Russian government at Moscow and noted as the diplomatic brains of the soviet. The latest of 20th century newspaper methods was employed to secure this statement with the detailed peace terms which Russia is offering to Poland.

M. Tchitchering declared that the Soviet will claim absolute freedom of action in the orient until a general peace treaty is concluded with Great Britain. The soviet foreign minister gave a first official denial that the Red army is out of hand and that the generals on the Polish front are defying the orders of the civilian members of the Soviet. He gave a detailed account of how the military campaign against Poland is being waged.

"Soviet Russia has not the least intention of destroying Poland. Russia desires only guarantees against new attacks by the Polish army. We demand the reduction of the Polish army to 50,000 men but at the same time Poland's own workers will be organized and the members of the trade unions will be armed to insure peace," he said.

Russia stands ready to withdraw her army from Poland. Instead of Russian occupation, the Soviet government relies entirely upon the arming of Polish workers and allow them to maintain peace. Poland will retain sufficient arms and war material to supply this army of workmen. "Russia will insist Poland grant free lands to the families of Polish citizens, wounded or killed in the war. These are the principal points from which you will see the new era beginning."

One of the questions wireless to Moscow referred to reports that the Soviet could not stop the advance on Warsaw if it desired.

The war minister thus answered this query. "Your supposition about the Russian generals supplanting the Soviet is truly absurd. The supreme military control is in the hands of a military committee at the front. The Red army is completely in the services of the Soviet government and is controlled by the Soviet government."

Albany's Song Bird Honored in N. Y.

Miss Margaret Clarkson appeared in concert in New York on Thursday evening under the auspices of the management of the Globe before a select audience and made a wonderful success. "Marvelous voice" was the opinion expressed by musical judges of the vocal work of our Margaret. For several months Miss Clarkson has been studying under Dudley Buck, the famous New York music master, with the result that her superb voice has had recognition in this great music centre of America.

Charged With Second Degree Murder in Max Zeun Case.

C. B. Graves, sheriff of Cullman county, was indicted by the Cullman county grand jury this week on a charge of second degree murder, in connection with the death of Max Zeun, Solicitor D. C. Almon, announced last night on his return from Cullman, where a session of the Circuit court was adjourned Friday. Judge Robert C. Brickell presided. He was here last night en route to his home in Huntsville.

Zeun is alleged to have been shot to death by Sheriff Graves following a raid on a moonshine still in Cullman county, near the city of Cullman. The killing occurred several months ago and at his preliminary hearing Sheriff Graves was held to the grand jury under $10,000 bond.

The case has attracted much attention in Cullman county.

OVERALL COMPANY WILL BE ORGANIZED NEXT FRIDAY NIGHT

On next Friday night the organization of the overall company, which it was recently announced would locate in Albany, will take place. The meeting will be held in the rooms of the Albany Chamber of Commerce.

At this meeting the officers and directors of the company will be elected and every person taking stock in this company is expected to be present.

It was the original plan to have this factory in operation by September 1st of this year, but some unavoidable delays came up and plans had to be changed. It is now definitely known, that the factory will be operation by November. It is also understood that this factory when completed will be one of the most modern plants of its kind in the entire South.

It will have a capacity of fifty dozen pair per day and only a high grade overall will be manufactured.

TIGER BATTLERS PRACTICE MONDAY

LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL TEAM TO HOLD INITIAL WORKOUT

The Albany High School Tiger will crawl from his lair Monday afternoon in the initial practice for the coming season. The practice is called by Captain Carr and it is expected that the applicants for the 1920 purple jersey squad will be out in a bunch.

The outfit will face a heavy schedule this year and will probably open on the Y. M. C. A. grounds the last of September with Huntsville.

Followers of the piskin remember the verdict handed the Huntsville huskies of last year and it is predicted the count will rise much higher this season on the Madison county representatives. The practice will open at the ball park about 5 o'clock and a full attendance is urged.

Couch Dobbins, past master of the Sewanee Tiger, will help Coach Templeton in whipping the gang into a winning team and both coaches are planning a non-stop flight toward the championship of High School circles.

MRS. CATT DENIES CHARGE MADE BY AN ANTI SPEAKER

(International News Service.)
NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 14.—The house of representatives of the Tennessee general assembly is all that remains between the federal suffrage amendment and victory, the senate Friday having ratified the amendment. A joint resolution is still in the house committee. It is will be reported back Monday night. Suffrage leaders confidently expect to pass the amendment in the house Tuesday. The senate measure will be presented to the house Monday morning. Under the rules it will have to lay over a day unless unanimous consent can be obtained for immediate consideration. That is believed impossible.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt late Friday issued an emphatic denial of a charge made against her in the Senate debate by Senator Chandler, the only republican senator to vote against ratification. Chandler charged that Mrs. Catt had advocated inter-marriage of the white and colored races. Her denial was "It is an absolute fabrication that I have at any time advocated inter-marriage between the white and negro races. Furthermore I believe it to be an absolute crime." Chandler's remarks were hissed again and again by the galleries.

CAROLINA GUESS

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 14.—That ratification will pass the North Carolina senate by a majority of 5 to 7 and be defeated in the house by a majority of 10 was the best guess here today.

DRILLING FOR OIL IN MORGAN COUNTY TO START SOON, BARRY OF TEXAS BELIEVES

Cooperation of Farmers in Blocking Leases Necessary, He Declares Today.

COST OF WELL WILL BE NEIGHBORHOOD $60,000

Geologists Interested for Many Years in Oil Possibilities, of County.

If the farmers of Morgan county are able to get-together on block leases, prospects are bright for the drilling of a well for oil at an early date.

R. A. Barry, of Fort Worth, Texas, is here today looking over the local situation. According to Mr. Barry, every indication is that oil will be found between Albany-Decatur and Hartsville but the farmers must cooperate in blocking leases in order that the promoters may know just where they stand.

The cost of drilling a test well will be in the neighborhood of $60,000, it is said. Oil is believed to be at least 3,000 feet underneath the top soil.

Mr. Barry has interested a number of local residents in his plan and several farmers here today declared the first well will certainly be drilled.

For many geologists have been interested in the oil possibilities of Morgan and other North Alabama counties. As early as the eighties, investigations were made of the mineral resources of the Tennessee valley and geologists reported every evidence of oil. Since that time many other surveys have been made and in each case, geologists believed oil is here.

LAATSCH IS DOING ORGANIZATION WORK

WRITES OF MEETING OF THE NORTH CAROLINA FEDERATION OF LABOR

H. K. Laatsch, former president of Albany-Decatur Central Labor Union and a sheet metal worker at the Cornice and Roofing company, is now on leave of absence doing organization work for his craft in Gastonia, N. C.

In writing to local friends Mr. Laatsch said that he had been attending the North Carolina State Federation of Labor convention, that that body came out for woman's suffrage, condemned low salaries paid teachers, and demanded free tuition and text books for the public school children. He said that a resolution was passed asking President Samuel Gompers, to make the Labor Day address in Charlotte, N. C., this year.

A resolution was presented requesting that the Governor of the state visit all strike zones in person when possible, also one demanding that where guns were used during strikes, that they be manned only by the most experienced and reliable men. Another resolution was presented recommending that all Central Labor bodies form non-partisan political clubs and ask all friends of labor to join the same.

In his address of welcome, the Mayor of Charlotte, N. C., where the convention was held, said according to Mr. Laatsch, that he regarded organizations of workers as imperative in the times in which we live, and that he upheld this right where the organizations were carried on in a legal and authorized manner. Mr. Laatsch said that he was having a busy time, and expected to get through his work in time to reach his home in Albany some time next week.

WEATHER
Local showers probably, tonight and Saturday.

River is Rising Rapidly, May Go Former Record

Have you noticed the old Tennessee at Riverview Avenue? ...

Well if you haven't just go out and get a look. The deep and blue is rapidly approaching the flood stage and if J. Pluv doesn't soon climb on the dry band wagon and join the forces of a well known candidate for President ever since Hector was in short pants, it looks as if we are due for a midsummer flood.

The waters are getting higher hourly and today they were well up the avenue and all the inhabitants of the banks had to pack up and move on.

It is not yet known just to what stage the water will reach but may go above last year's mark of 21 feet.

Several years ago the water staged a rise and the distance from the bridge girders to the surging foam was too near to suit the travelers.

PICK ONLY WHITE COTTON, HE URGES

C. D. PATTERSON TELLS OF MEMPHIS MEETING OF COTTON ASSOCIATION.

Patterson who returned late Friday afternoon after attending the sessions.

"The association discussed generally the entire cotton situation," Mr. Patterson declared. "Experts covered the field thoroughly. Their advice was to pick only the white cotton and destroy all low grade cotton."

House, Dressed For Liberty Is Arrested Again

Johnny House alias Walter Murphy, left last night from the Morgan county jail with a special escort of Nashville, Tenn., officials. House was about to get his freedom when Sheriff J. V. May received word that the men from the Tennessee capital were on the way to Albany-Decatur.

Under the local statutes the officers were unable to hold a person after a certain length of time. House was dressed and ready to set his foot on terra firma, but he didn't.

The Nashville deputies had a warrant for the youthful miscreant charging the theft of $900 worth of merchandise from one of the large mercantile establishments, of Nashville. House stated that although he had been treated very kindly while in the hands of the Sheriff, he was glad he would be able to get away because of the nearness of his cell to the scaffold. He also claimed that those who had met the fate from the scaffold bothered him at night and were keeping him from sleeping. He was the only white in the bastille for the past few months.

"Premier Lloyd George's pitiable excuses" was the head used by the Matin over its London dispatches. The Journal refers to the American note to Italy announcing that the United States will not recognize the Soviet government as a "decisive factor."

LA BELLE FRANCE THROWS HER HAT INTO THE RING

It is easy to fall into error, as to the exact meaning of a diplomatic note, but on the face of her last state paper on the Russian situation, France expects to join the battle against the Bolshevik government. The recognition of General Wrangel, with the promise of all military aid possible, can mean little less than a declaration of war. Wrangel is regarded as having the strongest following ever massed against the Soviets. His combined strength is figured greater than that of Poland, and his ability as superior to that of grand Duke Nicholas. The French are reported to be convinced that Wrangel can send the terrible Cossacks against the Bolsheviks; if he does, it will be a case of the present red armies meeting foes more than worthy of their steel.

General Wrangel is credited with having agreed to assume all the outstanding obligations of the old Russian government, which owes a heavy debt to the French. Just how far financial considerations are influencing the European situation cannot be told. They, doubtless, have their weight; but most of all it would seem that France sees a menace to her free institutions and destruction from Germany later, in the continued success of the Bolshevik armies and is determined to stop them before they reach the Germans and possibly combine forces with her ancient foes. Not until very recent days have so authentic reports been available from Russia, and all these reports declare that the destitution in that country has grown so miserable that the nation has reached the breaking point.

If this be true, the latest French gesture may prove of high political importance as coming at a time propitious for meeting once for all and successfully a menace beside which Prussianism was a blessing in disguise. On the other hand if the Cossacks can not be sent against the Bolsheviks, and General Wrangel does not prove to be a man of destiny it will all but destroy the French nation ere the onward march of Bolshevism is terminated. But if France should fall, it is pretty certain that like blind Samson of old, she will carry her adversaries down with her.

HUTSON & McCLUSKEYMany Alabamians at Red Boiling

With Tennessee the leading state represented at Red Boiling Springs this season, Alabama is second in number of guests at the leading hotels of the popular Tennessee resort, according to Postmaster T. H. Alexander of Albany, who with Mrs. Alexander returned last night from a week's stay at the Springs.

Among the people from Albany and Decatur at the resort during the past week are the following: Col. Tennis Tidwell, Verley L. Hendricks, H. D. Harkreader, W. H. Duncan, Frank Joest, E. R. Rae, Mrs. Sol Long and Miss Corrine Long, D. W. and Mrs. Lynne, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Burk and others. A large number of Alabamians from Cullman, Lauderdale and Madison counties were also at the springs. There are about 600 or 700 people at the springs this week from almost every state in the union, the two leading hotels, the Palace and the Donoho, having turned away hundreds of people this season.

When the wire pullers appeal to people's prejudice, the honest man can get back at them with the truth through a newspaper ad. A vigorous campaign of facts and reason in this form is a hard one to beat. The newspaper travels faster and it reaches many more homes than any political heeler can touch.

A frank sincere newspaper statement appeals to the public mind. People feel that a candidate will stand by a statement made in printer's ink. They like the man who comes out in the open with a positive statement of his views.

In a campaign fought through advertising, facts and logic and reason stand the best chance. Narrow and prejudiced views do not sound well in cold type. But clear and constructive ideals, an intelligent point of view and the appeal to reason, win the attention of the voters as they sit down at their leisure to read and think. This way of playing the political game is peculiarly attractive to the man of ideas and the campaigner for good government.

Just Loved Her Liquor She Says

(International News Service) DETROIT, Aug. 13.—Mrs. Edna Marion, forty-five years old, well tailored and hatted, told a magistrate in Windsor that she "just loved liquor."

Mrs. Marion admitted that she was in the habit of consuming on an average of five bottles a day. When she did not drink it herself she had a party and her friends did, she told the court.

Mrs. Marion has for twenty years been a resident of Petite Cote. The other day a consignment of twenty cases of liquor arrived at the express office in Windsor for Mrs. Marion, police said. Mrs. Marion explained that she has had forty cases of liquor in the last three months and has none of it left.

"Have you sold any liquor?" she was asked.

"Certainly not," she replied. "I just have to have whiskey to drink."

"Only two empty bottles were found on the premises. What did you do with the other 478 bottles?" the court asked.

Mrs. Marion said she always dumped them in the river.

The license inspector also found nine empty barrels in the basement of the Marion home. Mrs. Marion lost the twenty cases of liquor.

One Millionth of an Inch.

Steel gauges accurate to the incredible fineness of a millionth part of an inch are now being made in quantities at the United States bureau of standards. So extraordinarily precise is the method of manufacture, simple as it is, that in one instance 31 finished gauges out of a lot of 53 were absolutely accurate to .000,001 inches and the balance all within .000,002 inches of precision, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. The gauges are steel disks.

Wood Alcohol Always Injurious.

REALLY NO GREAT MYSTERY

Though at First It Did Seem Remarkable Where Those Boy Scouts Were Coming From.

Now there are boy scout stunts and boy scout stunts, but it took a Terre Haute troop to put over the best one. It was at a meet at the First Baptist church, and they were illustrating an early morning at their summer camp, Kinneumapoose. The scenery, except for a small pup tent, was the regular church furniture. But still the audience could stretch its imagination enough to make the scene effective.

The first streak of dawn was announced, and then slowly there emerged from the pup tent a yawning, stretching scout. A wee interval, and another followed him. Another lapse of time, and another scout emerged from the tent. Then came others until there were 12 on the platform, and still others were coming. The audience was almost incredulous with amazement, for, as every one knows, a pup tent is so small that it cannot accommodate more than three boys at the limit.

Then out started the thirteenth, and evidently he was too sleepy, for he jostled the tent so that it slipped away from its mooring, and there back of it was the entrance to the pool for baptism. The youngsters had been concealed in it and used the tent merely as an entry to the platform.—Indianapolis News.

MEANT TO CALL THEM QUICK

Aunt Dinah Had No Idea of Allowing for Misunderstanding When She Rang the Bell.

Aunt Dinah, plantation born and reared, went to a nearby town to "hire out." She was very promptly hired by a young housewife, who, seeing her lack of familiarity with modern households, started to train her.

She showed Aunt Dinah her small silver-service bell—there were no electric bells in the old-fashioned house—and told her that when it was rung she must come into the dining room. Aunt Dinah said she understood. A few days later the mistress was seated on the broad veranda with a friend when she heard a tremendous clanging from the direction of the kitchen. It came nearer swiftly and soon identified itself as the sound of a large bell.

Puzzled, the housewife entered the hall and there stood Aunt Dinah, swinging a large dinner bell vigorously. "Why, what on earth is the matter, Aunt Dinah?" she gasped. "Why are you ringing that bell?"

"Well, Miss Mary, I thought dat was the way folks called each other in dis here house. Didn't you show me yo' bell the other day? I found dis one in de cupboard and I wanted you right quick in de kitchen, so I rung hit."

Ready Acquiescence.

"You haven't explained how you happened to have these chickens in your possession," said a magistrate sternly to the prisoner. "I've trying to think, yer worship. Give me time," replied the prisoner. "I will. Fourteen days!"

Excellent Logic.

Harrieth and Rosalind were playing together nicely when suddenly Rosalind lost her temper and told Harrieth and the dolls exactly what she thought of them. Harrieth listened gravely until Rosalind was through and then said: "Mother, Rosalind must be an awful thoughter inside to say such things outside."

Early Basket Makers.

The ancient Islanders of Great Britain were famous basket makers and their wares were costly acquisitions in the palaces of Italy. They manufactured woven boats and covered them with the skins of wild animals; their huts were made of openwork made of osiers and their warriors' shields were constructed of reeds in a marvelously impervious manner.

LOVE "AMERIKA," BUT KIDDIES' THOUGHTS TURN HOMEWARD

782 Russian Children, on Last Half of Long Journey, Yearn for Day When Petrograd Is Reached. Health of Youngsters Good.

By Ellis H. Martin, (International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—On board the big gray Japanese freighter Yomei Maru, now steaming toward New York via the Panama Canal, are 782 pairs of bright eyes that are ever turned eastward. Bearing the most unusual cargo it ever carried, the big Red Cross "nursery ship" has now covered about half of its 10,000-mile journey to repatriate nearly 800 Russian boys and girls who for two years have wandered just a few miles in advance of the bitter fighting in Siberia.

They are going "home," but there is not one that does not realize that when Petrograd, the city from which they were sent by their parents in 1918, is reached it may be an occasion for mourning instead of joy. Only a few of the children have had any word from their parents.

Their visit to America is the brightest spot in their lives. At San Francisco the Junior Red Cross feted and entertained them in a manner far beyond anything they had thought possible.

It was there many saw automobiles for the first time, and rode in them. It was there that they saw flowers, peace and plenty for the first time since 1914.

And now, though they are looking forward to their visit to New York City, their thoughts are turning to "home" with increased yearning.

Gathered from various camps in different sections of their war-torn country the little tots, many suffering from malnutrition and hardship, were brought across the Pacific from the Siberian port of Vladivostok. They are in the custody of the American Red Cross, which has "mothered" them for two years.

Ranging in age from three to twenty years, the kiddies have behaved wonderfully aboard the ship.

It was in May, 1918, that these children were sent from their parents' shelter in Petrograd into the Ural Mountains in Siberia, where food was more plentiful and where there was less hardship and disease.

Fighting developing in the Summer of 1918 between the Bolshevik forces and the Czech-Slovak armies cut off the children's colonies in the Ural Mountains from access to Petrograd. The rail lines were blocked and the children were compelled to flee to territory further east in Siberia.

Food became short and many of the youngsters were forced to work in the fields so as to secure food for the younger children. Then Winter set in with all its terrors in the Siberian fields. Short of food and clothing, chilled by the severe snows and forming an easy prey to the various virulent epidemics the ranks of the little band of children rapidly became depleted.

In January of 1919 the great protecting arm of the American Red Cross, working from its base at Vladivostok, reached out and began gathering the youngsters into its fold. A colony was established on an island in the harbor of Vladivostok where the little refugees were slowly but surely gathered.

After traveling 3,500 miles across Siberia from the Ural Mountains the children were in sore straits on their arrival at the Red Cross colony. Food clothing and medical attendance were lavishly bestowed upon them. A few died, but through the wonderful efforts of the Red Cross workers those that came in yesterday were nursed back to health.

However, three little tots—one a boy aged five years—are in the sickbay of the big Japanese freighter. These three little waifs are making a plucky fight against the ravages of the dreaded white plague.

Efforts were made several months ago to transport the children back to their homes in Petrograd via the Trans-Siberian Railway. Special cars were fitted for the long journey, and everything was made in readiness.

But suddenly the fate of war again set itself against the children. The night before their departure the Japanese armies began their attack on the Bolshevik forces and to cross the lines would have meant a massacre.

Then the Red Cross endeavored to secure an American transport for this journey, but all the army transports were busy moving troops and the only course left open was to charter the Japanese freighter Yomei Maru.

Tragedy is written in every little child's face aboard the big ship. A longing to be caressed by fond mother or father and a child's intuition as if in expectancy that cruel fate has taken their parents into the great unknown seem to throb in every little soul.

Two children of a family of Russian nobility are among the 782 youngsters.

These are Lev, aged eleven, and Robert, aged thirteen years.

Both are the sons of the Baroness Wilbert, who was last heard from fleeing from Petrograd following the reign of terror instituted by the Bolshevik forces.

Among the children is the champion boy swimmer of Petrograd, Nikola Eyoroff, who holds various records.

Standard Weights and Measures.

The idea of adopting scientific measurements as a basis of a system of weights and measures, was suggested as early as the seventeenth century, particularly by the French astronomer, Jean Picard, who lived from 1629 to 1682. The system was worked out and taken up by the national assembly of France in 1790. It was adopted and its use made compulsory in 1801.

What Birthmarks Indicate.

According to a French scientist, birthmarks in families not now of good social position indicate that they are of knightly descent, the marks being due to the fact that their possessors' ancestors wore armor.

FEELING BETTER ON SECOND DAY

Been a long time sufferer from constipation, stomach and kidney trouble; Dreco, the new herbal remedy, gave relief.

"For 10 years my wife suffered from a bad case of stomach trouble, constipation, pains in her back and aching limbs", says Mr. J. W. Hayes the well known farmer of Route 4, Gadsden, Ala.

"Her food would sour in her stomach, and foul gas would bloat her up; she had dull, heavy, aching pains in her back, over her kidneys; constipation was a daily menace, and her nerves were shattered. Sleep was broken and did not rest her, and her appetite had about failed. Although she had taken many different medicines, none helped much, until she took Dreco, the herbal stomach remedy. The second day after she started on Dreco, she felt better, and has continued to improve ever since. The constipation has passed off; her food digests well, and does not swell up in her stomach; she has no more pains in her back, and her sleep is sound and refreshing; she can now live in comfort, whereas life before was a burden."

Many people are daily testifying to the good results of Dreco treatment in cases of weak kidneys, sluggish liver, poor digestion, gas, rheumatism and constipation.

All druggists now sell Dreco and it is being especially introduced in Albany by Albany Drug Co., in Decatur by Hilda Drug Co.—Adv.

Norma Talmadge at the Princess In "A Daughter of Two Worlds"

Leroy Scott's Greatest Novel Becomes Masterpiece In Photoplay Production—"A Daughter of Two Worlds" Provides Entertainment of Strong Interest for Princess Movie Fans.

The motion picture, "A Daughter of Two Worlds," starring Norma Talmadge, which will be seen at the Princess Theatre, beginning Monday is an adaptation of the novel of the same name by Le Roy Scott, one of the highest priced and foremost authors of the country. One of his works, "Mary Regan," was recently pictured with Anita Stewart as the star and made a hit with the movie fans.

A Dramatist of Actions
His stories seem well suited to the screen, although the cinema version of "A Daughter of Two Worlds" departs in some respects from the original. In the main, however, it follows the general plot, taking the heroine, Jennie, pretty daughter of Black Jerry Malone, the one wholesome character of his underworld dance hall, through the bottom and top of life.

Jennie, whose part is taken by Miss Talmadge, lives in two worlds. She emerges from the slums to enter society under an assumed name after being spirited away to a fashionable boarding school to escape jail on a charge of forgery, a crime that she did not commit.

In her new environment she meets the man of her heart, but when the life of a friend of the other world, wrongly accused of murder, depends solely upon her, Jennie is forced to decide whether she shall continue living a lie, with the alternative of losing everything she holds dear.

HIGH AND LOW SOCIETY COMPARED IN PHOTOPLAY

A striking contrast between the high and low walks of life is drawn in the photoplay, "A Daughter of Two Worlds," from the novel of the same name by Le Roy Scott, which will be shown at the Princess Theatre Monday.

Norma Talmadge, who is starred as Jennie Malone, plays the part of the beautiful daughter of Black Jerry Malone, keeper of a questionable dance hall in the slums.

The ambitions of her father, who is not as black as his name would indicate, carry her out of jail, through a fashionable boarding school for girls, and into society, where she meets the man who wins her love.

The stigma of the past follows her into her new environment, and a dramatic situation arises when Jennie learns that she alone can save from the electric chair a man who has been wrongly convicted of murder.

To do so, Jennie is forced to risk the loss of her fiance and her place in society.

Can a girl of the underworld, who has lived straight, make good in the social world?

The photoplay answers that question.

PAULINE FREDERICK SUPERB
PRINCESS SATURDAY

Pauline Frederick—hers is a name to conjure with. The screen idol of millions all over the world, her first appearance in Goldwyn Pictures takes on the éclat of an international event. Samuel Goldwyn, president of Goldwyn, fulfills his promise to exhibitors to add this famous artist to his brilliant roster. Furthermore, in "The Woman on the Index" he restores her to the medium of expression in which she has won her greatest triumphs—modern dramas surging with emotion. But never before has Pauline Frederick appeared in a play like "The Woman on the Index." It outdistances them all.

Adapted by Willard Mack from George Broadhurst's stage success of the current season, it affords Miss Frederick magnificent opportunities. A wonderful story with a plot so baffling that the climax is guaranteed to keep the most sophisticated spectator guessing until the very last scene, the star's progress through it demands test after test of her histrionic powers. Every scene pulsates with suspense. Almost every scene shows Miss Frederick in a different costume. Each scene more wonderful than its predecessors.

Cast, direction, technical skill—all are expended lavishly in striving to make "The Woman on the Index" a whirlwind success. Miss Frederick herself is effulgent as the star.

It takes three weavers several months to weave a genuine cashmere shawl.

Budding Financier.

My daughter, in company with another girl, went to the grocery store to get some grapes. The other girl asked for a nickel's worth, and when the grocer handed them to her my little girl asked for a cent's worth. The grocer said: "Ruth, I don't sell a penny's worth of grapes." Ruth said: "You will sell six cents' worth, won't you?" The grocer said yes, then Ruth said: "Well, then put a penny's worth in that bag." The grocer laughed and gave her the grapes.—Chicago Tribune.

Railroad Briefs About Town

An interesting address was made by R. L. Pilling yesterday morning before the safety first committee of the local Railroad shops. Mr. Pilling said that while some roads had discontinued the safety first work as instituted by Director General McAdoo, during the war, that the L. & N. was satisfied with the results being achieved and would continue the department. The speaker said that he understood that C. J. Bodemer, formerly Master Mechanic here but now an official at Louisville, had been advised to find out if he could how it was that the Albany shops could get along with so few accidents, so that other shops on the system could have the benefit of such information. It was reported that in May these shops had only one reportable accident, while in June, no accidents were reported. In this connection the speaker called attention to the letter of congratulation recently sent Master Mechanic C. W. Matthews, by C. F. Giles, Superintendent of Machinery, on the excellent showing made by the Albany shops.

Another letter was also read by Secretary Lee Hartung, of the local safety first committee, in which an avoidable accident was described at length, said accident resulting from an engine being started up on a machine while he was repairing it in a Round House. In view of irresponsible rumors set afloat, that the L. & N. had protested the new raise in shop craft wages and would withhold the same, the announcement of Mr. Pilling during the course of his speech was of interest. He said that the new wage scale was now effective and that the back pay would be sent out just as early possible.

Joseph Maples, of Elk City, Oklahoma, but formerly of Decatur, was a recent visitor to his brother, W. N. Thomas, a shop employee. Speaking of changed conditions since he lived here over thirty years ago Mr. Maples expressed himself as delighted with the progress of the two communities and declared that he expected to visit here again next year.

Said Mr. Maples: "When I was here as a youth, I used to ferry people across the Tennessee river, not on modern ferry boats such as you have, but in a small canoe. I recall once that our little boat got stranded in a bank in the river, so myself and my customer just left it, and crawled up the drift wood on to the bridge and went on our way on foot. There were no cars running here in my day, and I used to find what I thought then fine employment helping Professor Sherrill run a livery stables. I recall that a few shacks were being built where Albany now stands, before I left for the west."

It is rumored that one or more announcements for Mayor will be made from employees of the shops in the near future.

C. C. Teague has returned to work after attending a meet of one of his secret orders at Cullman, at which place he reported he had a fine time.

Lieut. A. P. Teague, now taking a governmental course at Auburn College, was a recent visitor to the shops where he was employed before the war.

C. E. Howell, a former shops employee, is now in Birmingham.

W. W. Johnson and his brother returned recently from Montgomery, where they visited their sister, Mrs. R. L. Lamon, who has been quite ill, but is now improved.
